Business, the President declared, should stand on its own feet. American business men should not be afraid to match wits with any in the world. The typical American should be entirely independent. He added that business men do not need the help of official Washington as much as they think they do.

"Too many business men, he said. run down to Washington and say, it looks like rain: for God's sake give us sholter."

The President, amid great ap plause, declared he believed that when the present war is over the people of the world will demand guarantees that peace shall remain. "If America preserves her self possession," he added, "she may exert great mediating influence. I mean spiritual mediation, not government

He appealed to business men to pply themselves to business as if hey were building up the constitution of the United States and a comnon kindred of all mankind."

The President concluded his address amid great applause. The entire audience stood and sang "The Star Span-gled Banner." He then left for the State Capitol for a public reception.

DOESN'T WANT CASSIDY AND WILLETT PAROLED

District Attorney Cropsey Says Brooklyn Convicts Have Not Paid Fines.

District Attorney James C. Cropsey of Brooklyn wrote a letter to the Parole Board to-day protesting against the release on parole of "Curly Joe" Cassidy, former Democratic boss of Queens, and former Congressman William Willett, who are serving sentences of a year to a year and a half in Sing Sing for bribery. He says that neither of the men have paid the fine of $1,000 imposed in addition to the prison sontence.

Willett and Cassidy were convicted last January and are eligible to parole on Jan 13. They have both applied to the Board. District Attorney Cropsey points out that in the law there is no punishment provided to take the place of the fine if it is unpaid and states that many men who have ben paroled still owe their fines.
